HODGKIN CLASS

A TASTE OF THE ORIENT

DT and Cooking and Nutrition

- It is important to have a balanced diet; following the Eatwell Guide will support this.
- It is important to wash your hands before you cook or eat, and that you wash hands and equipment after handling raw food. Also, it is important that food is cooked to the required temperature.
- Food is reared from animals on farms, for example: pigs are reared for pork.
- Food is grown on farms, for example: wheat, which is grown for cereal.
- Food can be imported or exported across the world.

Geography

- Settlements and cities are places where people live.
- Cities are larger than settlements.
- Land is used for residential, agricultural, recreational, transportation and commercial reasons.
- A trade link is a process of buying and selling products across countries.
- The EU buy products from China, and it can be cheaper for individual countries when they come together as the EU and buy together.

Art

- Adding media to paint will create a different texture.
- Using different objects with paint will create a different effect.
- Lithography is an ancient form of printing on flat rock or sheet metal.
- Hokusai is an artist who uses printing in their artwork.
- Mixing primary colours and secondary colours make tertiary colours and these create different hues, moods and tones.
- Adding grey, white and black can change tone, tint and shade of colours.

Computing

- A program is a set of instructions.
- An algorithm provides a solution to a problem on a computer. We shouldn't share our personal details online.
- Scratch is an online coding website that we can use individually or with others.
- We shouldn't give any personal information to people we do not know online.
- Our online presence is monitored.

History

- Shang Dynasty was after Xia Dynasty and before Zhou Dynasty.
- It was in the Bronze Age.
- We know about the Shang Dynasty because of artefacts that have been found.
- The Shang Dynasty began when Cheng Tang took over the Xia Dynasty.
- Life was better under the control of the Shang Dynasty.
- Shang people believed that their spirit would go to the afterlife. They worshipped gods and wrote on oracle bones.
- Fu Hao was a military general, high priestess and King Wu Ding's wife.
- The Shang Era ended in 1046BCE when King Wu of Zhou Dynasty overthrew Tang.
- The Shang Era created a clear hierarchy system, produced bronze tools and weapons and the earliest known writing system.
- Main cities in the Shang Dynasty included Zhengzhou and Anyang.

Science

- Materials are used for particular jobs based on their properties.
- Some materials will dissolve in liquid to form a solution.
- You can recover substances from solutions using sieving, filtering and evaporating.
- There are some changes that are irreversible, such as burning wood and baking a cake.

RE

- A world view is someone's opinion on the world - sometimes involving religion.
- Jewish food laws (Kashrut) are a set of laws that come from Mitzvot (the 613 commandments) in the Torah
- These beliefs around food, impact Jewish people in different ways and they have to be aware if a food is Kosher.

Music

- Most Chinese and Japanese music uses a pentatonic scale. A pentatonic scale only uses 5 notes across an octave.
- There are a variety of different music genres such as blues, rock and reggae. These can be compared to traditional Chinese music.
- Music is an important part of culture and can be used at gatherings or festivals.